4 HOURS OF CEU

Tuesday
APRIL

9 am – 1 pm

Course Description

During this presentation we will discuss the structure and context needed to create systemic change and promote collective accountability – leading with the principle that we are all responsible for supporting and contributing to a culture that fully promotes equity, diversity, and inclusion (EDI). We will outline how the work of psychologists align with the EDI Framework and how APA's Executive EDI Office can support you in efforts. Members of OPA will consider strategies for incorporating the current EDI principles into their work. Participants will engage in critical discussions concerning the infusion of EDI efforts internally, across the field of psychology, and within society. community.

Course Objectives

1. Consideration of the Association's contributions to social hierarchies and inequities.
2. Identifying ways to decolonize psychological science.
3. Discussing avenues for incorporating principles of equity, diversity, and inclusion to enhance research, teaching and practice among Caribbean psychologists.
4. Actively seek to center the perspectives and voices of social, personal and intersectional identity groups that are or have been disenfranchised or marginalized.

Speaker

Vanessa Hintz, PsyD

Dr. Vanessa Hintz is a licensed clinical psychologist, workshop leader and keynote speaker. She currently serves as the Senior Director of Equity, Diversity, and Inclusion Engagement and Outreach for the American Psychological Association. In her career, Dr. Hintz has worked in various clinical settings with children, adolescents, and adults with a wide array of presenting issues. Workshop Classifications and Continuing Education Credits

Each workshop is classified according to the following system:

- Level 1: general or introductory content aimed at a diverse audience.
- Level 2: psychologically sophisticated content, at either introductory or more advanced levels, aimed at general professional audiences.
- Level 3: highly advanced theoretical or technical content, aimed at expert audiences.

Level 2 and 3 presentations will typically warrant CE credit for a licensed psychologist. Both level and number of hours for each workshop are indicated and official letters of completion will be awarded to participants who attend the entire workshop. APA guidelines specify that no letter of attendance will be awarded for partial workshop attendance.

Level 2 and 3 offerings are typically accepted by the Oregon Board of Psychologist Examiners. However, Oregon licensed psychologists should consult the official Continuing Education Guidelines produced by the Oregon Board of Psychologist Examiners and note that there is no pre-certification of continuing education credit by the Board of Psychologist Examiners.
